Run #1195

Fullerton to Solano Beach Double Run

It was an unseasonably hot November day even by Southern California standards. I could go on about global warming, oil dependence and carbon emissions, but this is, after all, a hash write-up and not some soap box for eco-feminism.

For the third or fourth time in the last month, the hash was outside the Long Beach box in the beautiful foothills of Fullerton - much to the delight of ALOUETTE and WILD BILL. This time, the trail began at the Fullerton Train Station. The Long Beach hash was supposed to be foreplay for the Humpin Hash event to follow in Solano Beach. Several Humpin visitors joined us including C Fk RUN, ASSHOPHER, MISSIONARY IMPOSSIBLE, CAPTAIN JERK, GOT MILK and a whole bunch of other Humpers whose names escape this writer.

We showed the Humpin hash that Long Beach is never foreplay for anyone - even if the hares, NICE HAIR FAG, C Fk RUN, and GOT MILK, shot their load with a quickie trail through the town of Fullerton. Well, with these half-minds what do you expect?

The trail had the essential elements of a hash run: Flour, Beer, Shiggy and Sheep. JOCK and FRUIT OF THE LOOM were happy because there weren't any double secret backchecks. (Rumor has it they kissed and made up after last weeks Signal Hill Turkey run). LITTLE DUTCH BOY, FINGER IN THE DYKE and DYKE MAKER were happy with the trail because they were still recovering from their 25K ball buster runs in Chiang Mai and Laos. LUSH PUPPY was happy because she was able to run through drainage ditches with raw sewage. ASSHOPHER started out happy because he was able to make new friends with the sheep.

However, one of the more ornery ewes was so upset, she kicked him in the chin with her cloven hoof causing him to bleed profusely. FREE SAMPLES was happy because she played it safe and avoided any further cuts, scrapes or bruises. And finally, STUMBELINA and BEEFEATER were positively glowing with their news of upcoming hash nuptials. Nice rocks!!!

What else can I say about the trail itself? Because I was at the back of the pack, I did not solve any of the checks. I don't know if people complained about walkers ruining the trails, FRBs whining about unsolvable checks or any other complaints. We didn't piss off any of the locals, except possibly the sheeps and cows. The cops didn't even bother us during ceremonies.

Because of the Amtrak schedule, the ceremonies had to finish by 12:35. PINKY and CRACK were on a short leash but the ceremonies were fast and funny. I believe that JUST SAY NO TO CRACK found a bicycle on trail which became Long Beach's hashit. CORN HOLE HUSSIE added some additional accessories to the seat from her corn cob collection. BUST'ER HYMAN provided the MAN GLIDE® or BOY BUTTER to ease the riding pleasure. ROYAL FLUSH nominated himself for hashit but the winner went to JC Superscar who proudly rode the bike with honor. Rumor has it JESUS CHRIST SUPERSCAR rode the new hashit bike all the way to Solano Beach for the afternoon Humpin Trail. Ask him about it, just don't ask him to show you the scars. (ha ha! I'm so punny!!!)

B.O.R.T should have received the hashit this time for providing clothing to a naked woman on the street, but I guess JC Superscar wanted more... and well sometimes there are naked women you just want to dress with your eyes.

STUMBELINA got a down down for proposing to BEEFEATER. BEEFEATER'S son Zak was named HARRY PALMER much to the chagrin of Zak's mum. I don't think Zak minded but STUM.. may have had to explain later. LAST TRAIN had to drink every time a train came by.

And just like that, the hash went in peace. About half of the group hopped on the Southbound Pacific Surfliner for the Humpin Hash. A small group stuck around and mooned them as the train went on its way.

As for a write up of the Humpin Hash, I can only assume that it was like a cigarette after a good lay.

So there you have it. Beer, Flour, Shiggy and Sheep... and no diatribe on Eco-feminism or sandy vagas.

Yours in hashing,
LowBeams

Hares: Wild Bill & Alouette

Probably the COLDEST Trail in LBH3 history was set on the Sunday hash in Beatty in '04. How cold was it? It was so cold that if Beatty had a zoo they would have moved their penguins indoors to keep them from freezing. Temperature was in the 20's, wind was from the north, frost was on the desert. Everyone piled into the bus at the Burro Inn for a short ride out of town and further into the middle of nowhere (about 20 minutes). Getting off the bus into the freezing elements was hard, but everyone had a long-sleeved hooded sweatshirt from their gimme bag. The hares, not wanting to freeze, ran in full-up arctic gear. Tits Ahoy shocked everyone by jogging a bit on trail(WITHOUT hurting herself)! Trail started up the mountain and came to a deep gorge. Within about 15 minutes one of the hares was sited in a warm cave complete with Bloody Marys, beer and some great desert views. After a brief stop the run continued down the mountain to an unmanned beer check #2. When all the beer was consumed, everyone took off to the east around the base of the mountain. Then On In. The circle was short and sweet. Wild Bill was honored with his 20th hare patch. Most people were huddled on the bus enjoying the events from a short distance. The bus driver had the heat turned on full blast. It made for a nice warm drive back to the Burro.

The Humpin' Hash has arrived...
