The Mod Squad Run

Is this a great country or what? Where else can you wake up with one name and go pass-out with a new one. Ok, maybe it's not so much about the country. But it is about the name, and Pinky I will do my best to live by it. ....Honey S.T.F.U.

This run had something for everybody, from the Shortcutters being able to snare the hares to the Front Runners having themselves a little eagle to munch on. There were even Bees that were brought in especially from Africa to spice things up a little bit. A stage .0005 Hurricane the day before helped make everyone get a little dirtier. After all, isn't that why we're all here in the first place? .... Honey S.T.F.U.

Blowing Nemo F'd his back up the day before and being "Wet Clam's Birthday" I was doing what ever I was told (yea right). You got to be there for your friends. So I figured I'd hang with the gimp, drink Mud Slides in the Mud and ingest a tiny square of Orange County's wanna-be nature preserve...."SMOKE". I could see the curiosity in their eyes as families walking the trails watched Blowing Nemo and I cruise down the trail pulling our ice chest with chairs over our shoulders. I'm sure they thought we were up to no good, but it was all good. Who would of thought we still had a good 10 hours plus of celebrating "Wet Clam's Birthday".... Honey S.T.F.U.

Few short cutters came by to say "high" early...of course. "Was that Wet Clam's voice I heard?" .....No". and "No" this isn't just about Wet Clam's Birthday, but about real American Icons; "The Mod Squad" Pete, Julie and Linc, I mean Glider In, Wet Clam & Pity Cock Junction.... Hey Julie, Britany called and wants her hair back and Pete, The Partridge Family called and wants their shirt back. Linc, Ralph's called and just wants their Cucumber back.... Honey S.T.F.U.

Front Runners slid into the check with Puppet Hats after celebrating at the first check with Pity Cock Junction. At the second check we gave out some stylish shades to go with the ensembles. In the distance some kid who we're pretty sure broke into his mom's medicine chest probably thought he was having a Alice in Wonderland Hallucination when he sees the likes of Cum Nail Me, Sin-D-Bear, Fish Lips and Pillsbury Blow Boy wearing hats reminiscent of a Pee-Wee's Playhouse gone wrong. .... Honey S.T.F.U.

Leaving Beer Check #2 we were getting some real odd stares when Blowing Nemo noticed that I still had my Eeyore ears on, ....that explains it. Let's move on, I hear Whale Boner bought a pie for Wet Clam and we want to make sure we get a piece of that action. .... Honey S.T.F.U.

The down downs were in full swing when we pulled in. Everyone seemed a little more jovial than normal, must have been the hats or maybe H & R Cock had some special mixture he was sharing, seeing that his office was right up stairs. .... Honey S.T.F.U.

Here's what I can remember from the down-down, not much....because I didn't take any notes. Peckerwrecker was playing D.J. and nailed the timing on the Mod Squad Theme song, Space Available got Hashshit I think for just being himself and then was feeling up Wet Clam for a piece of patch. Last Train to Cuntsville was seeing everything through teal colored glasses. Back Door Whore and Faggedy Andy forgot the kids, Everyone thought Pity Cock Junction was Snowball, Always Juicy is a blond at heart, Whale Boner gave Wet Clam a "pie in the face" to start off her "Birthday Month", Just Ron got a new name; Shutter Up, (thinks for the shirt Broomhilda). Wet Clam and Fish Lips attempted a Kamikaze Down Down on Pinky, but he held them back and not a drop was spilled. Fruit brought up Glider In to let him know that this run was sooo awesome that he has totally redeemed himself from one that apparently went bad years ago back when god was a boy. I also remember something about Wild Bill and escalator shoes but I think that might have been a dream. Did I mention that Space Available got Hashshit. .... Honey S.T.F.U.

Next we went off to King Neptunes for the On On and that's where things really went bad, I mean good. I don't think that place will ever be the same.

Hey Pinky, She's asleep. Does that count?

THIS DATE IN HASH HISTORY
RUN # 300 DATE: 9/22/1990
HARES: Pig Iron & O.F.F.
PLACE: Mt. Pinos
Miles: 6

Run # 300 was the Saturday part of LBH3's "Malathion Weekend", a campout that was held somewhere over the grapevine in Lebec, CA. The weekend also included Run # 305 (Friday night) and Run # 306 (Sunday morning). This run began with a 26 mile ride on a school bus, up from the campground to the top of Mt. Pinos, where it was damn cold for September. So cold, in fact, that it began to snow. Well, we were at 8600 feet elevation! Soon the pack was off - walking and breathing hard - straight uphill, between pine trees and rocks and over stumps and logs. Beer check # 1 was at a scenic clearing, but it was too cold and windy to drink, so the pack headed back into the woods for shelter. Trail commenced to wander aimlessly, changing direction as if the hares were lost (they were) and eventually reached Beer Check # 2. The turkeys had the option of boarding the school bus at this point, and riding to the next beer check, or to the end. From there, it was downhill on a cross-country ski trail to Beer Check #3. The last leg of the trail consisted of more ski trails and gorgeous wilderness. By the time the pack reached the on-in, they were so eager to get changed into warm clothes that they hardly noticed the fact that there was no beer! It arrived in time for down-downs, where FRUIT OF THE LOOM got hashit for forgetting to blow his whistle.
